

New 'Great Books' Group Plans Meeting Sept. 25

The first meeting of a new Great Books Discussion Group will be held at the Redondo Beach Senior Citizens Building, in City Park adjacent to the Elks Club on Catalina Ave., on Wednesday, Sept. 25, from 8 to 1 p.m.

Many thousands of adults have found that learning to think for themselves by studying Great Books can be fun, as well as stimulating. Since 1947, when the Great Books Foundation was incorporated in Chicago as a non-profit organization, groups of 15 to 25 people from coast to coast have been meeting to discuss books written by such authors as Plato, Shakespeare, and Thoreau, books as old as the Bible, new as Freud. They have found that the books deal with basic problems as current and important today as when they were written: the problems of justice, happiness, immortality, government, and the nature of man.

Ideas Exchanged
The regular reading assignments give participants an opportunity to do the reading they've always planned to do, then exchange ideas with fellow citizens at the Great Books round-table. Sessions are not taught—the Great Books are the teachers. Members do the reading, then are asked questions by two co-leaders, volunteers who have been trained in the Socratic art of asking questions. Leaders do not supply the answers—the participants do. This technique makes it absolutely necessary for everyone to "think for himself." The discussion group will meet every two weeks, and will discuss a new work at each meeting. At the Sept. 25 meeting the Declaration of Independence will be discussed. Copies will be supplied at the meeting. This opportunity for a free liberal education is open to all adults in the community. There is no tuition, and no educational requirement.
